NURSERY PRICE LIST

SEASON 1937.

In presenting this season's Price List, we take the opportunity of thanking all our customers for their support and confidence in the past. This confidence and support we hope to maintain by supplying only good trees and plants, true to name and at a reasonable price.

For large orders we shall be pleased to give quotations.

G. DE VRIES, Proprietor.

Business Terms and Conditions.

THIS PRICE LIST CANCELS ALL PREVIOUS QUOTATIONS.

All communications should be addressed:—

ROSS NURSERIES, AMABELE, C.P.

All Quotations are subject to being unsold at the time of execution of order.

Forwarding Goods. All goods are delivered f.o.r. Amabele, unless otherwise stated. Customers take all risks in transport or delay of goods.

Every Care is taken in supplying goods true to name. Should, however, a mistake occur, we would be obliged if customers would notify us at once, when same will be rectified.

Unknown Customers are requested to accompany their orders with a remittance. Cheques and P.O.O.'s made payable to Ross Nurseries. All small orders should be accompanied by cash.

Packing Material will be charged at cost price.

Customers making their own selection from this catalogue are requested to give a few supplementary names, so that we may be able to complete the order, in case any of the first-mentioned varieties should be sold out. If no such list is given, we will give substitutes of the nearest variety or size, unless advised not to do so.

Every order should give full forwarding instructions, if by rail or post, which Station or Post Office.

Small orders up to 11 lbs. weight will be forwarded per Agricultural Parcel Post, as this is the quickest and safest mode of transit.

Booking orders. Orders may be booked at any time of the year. We will then forward when advised, or at the proper season for planting; no extra charge is made.

ROSES.

Roses may be planted from June onwards till the end of September, or in late seasons till the middle of October, also during the months of December and January where Summer rains occur.

ABBREVIATIONS.

H.P. (Hybrid Perpetual).—This class of roses is very hardy, highly fragrant, and ranging in colours from pure white to the darkest red. They are, however, not so free flowering as the Teas and Hybrid Teas.

T. (Tea Scented).—A class of perpetual blooming roses, with extremely delicate colours and delicious fragrance.

H.T. (Hybrid Tea).—This class furnishes us with some of the freest flowering and most delightful roses in cultivation. Most roses of recent introduction belong to this class.

C. (China Roses).—Of small growth, very free flowering, very pretty.

S. (Single Roses).

N. (Noisette).—These bloom mostly in clusters, sweet scented; most vigorous growers and very suitable for pillars.

B. (Bourbon).—Hardy and free bloomers; very good in the autumn.

Dwf. P. (Dwarf Polyantha).—These roses grow from 18 to 24in. high, bloom in large clusters, nearly all the year round. Very showy, and very suitable for edging to beds or borders.

P. (Polyantha).—This class of rose consists of strong growers —only suitable for covering walls, pergolas, arches, etc. They have handsome foliage, flower mostly in large clusters, and soon cover plenty of space.

R. (Rambler).—These also grow vigorously, and are best suitable for arches. They also make good pillar roses, in which case they are very effective.

W. (Wichuraiana).—A type of rose recently brought into prominence. The type and its hybrids are very free flowering and rapid rampant or creeping growers. They are very useful for covering arches, poles, pergolas, or as creepers over rockwork. Being evergreen, they are always very effective, the foliage being of a glossy, deep green colour.

CULTURAL REMARKS.

If it should happen that, after delay in transit, the roots of trees do not appear fresh, place same immediately in water, or cover them with moist soil; if necessary the whole trees can be covered with water or soil. Roses want to be severely pruned before planting. To reduce evaporation, and in case of parcels post to reduce bulk also, we will cut the trees back to the length required, unless otherwise advised. Any good garden soil may be considered suitable for roses, although they do best in heavier clay and loam. The ground should be well prepared some time before planting. In most cases, it will be necessary to dig it up from two to three feet deep, incorporating well rotted manure to the full depth. Take care that no fresh manure comes in contact with the roots, as many roses die as a result of this error.

Plant so that the union of stock and bud are well covered with soil. Water thoroughly and bring dry, loose soil back over the waterhole, to prevent caking of the soil.

Roses should be pruned severely each winter, to induce them to make strong growths with large, well-formed flowers. The stronger growers can be pruned longer than the weaker growers. The latter should have all the fine wood removed, and only three or more strong growths left, which should be cut from 6 to 12in. long. The Pernetiana class and the singles require very little pruning. Climbers and ramblers need have only dead and unripe wood removed, besides being kept within their allotted space.

We have much pleasure in offering the following list of roses from a well-selected stock. Customers may rely on getting good plants, true to name. It is in the interest of the customers to order early, as the strongest plants are sold first, while later in the season some varieties are almost sure to be sold out.

New Roses for 1936

3/6 each, 35/- per dozen, post free.

Bohm's Triumph (H.T.)—Velvety dark glowing red; long, pointed bud; full flower carried on long, rigid stem; strong grower and fine for cutting; very fragrant.

Ecstasy (H.T.)—Pale cadmium shaded bronze and cerise, with the colouring more pronounced on the reverse, fragrant.

Geheimrat Duisberg (H.T.)—Seedling from "Rapture" and "Julien Potin." Growth in every respect like that of "Ophelia," but for the glistening foliage. The colour is a sun true deep yellow, as is found in "Julien Potin."

Hazel Alexander (H.T.)—Bright deep crimson, petals of great depth and of stiff texture.

Katherine Pechtold (H.T.)—Long, pointed buds; old gold and bronzy-orange, opening to full, shapely flowers of coppery orange, flushed with rose and gold. Clove scented.

Liebesbote (H.T.)—Crimson-scarlet without shading; large, full, well-formed flowers; considered one of the best new red roses; long stems for cut flowers; sweetly scented.
